

Teacher Position Available:
Long Term Substitute Teacher
2020-21

DESCRIPTION OF SCHOOL

PS1 is a small (225 students), independent, non-profit, non-graded elementary school established in 1971. We are a pluralistic school; we believe students learn in a wide variety of ways and at differing rates in a school that values diversity. We offer children a strong academic curriculum made relevant to each child's life experience. We seek to develop the whole child, striking a balance between academic and social skills. PS1 is an equal opportunity employer.

MAJOR RESPONSIBILITIES

- Plan and teach curriculum to children in a non-graded class (about a two-year age range) with a team teacher
- Work closely with other faculty and staff
- Provide a skill concentration (art, language arts, math, music, science, social studies, etc.) that would be an addition to the faculty's talent pool and enrich the school
- Share supervision of activities outside the classroom and work to generate new projects and direction for the multicultural school community
- Provide continuous student assessment, write mid-year and year-end progress reports, and hold teacher-student-parent conferences
- Attend weekly faculty meetings and participate actively in curricular issues in an ongoing exchange of information and support with a closely-knit staff

SKILLS, KNOWLEDGE AND ABILITIES NEEDED

Teaching in a non-graded setting requires much knowledge of child development. One must be able to adjust curriculum to the cognitive level of each child and provide a wide range of materials for the varying levels of student ability. To conference successfully with parents in such a school, one must have good communication skills, and a thorough understanding of the curriculum and each student's circumstances. A familiarity with many ways of approaching a subject, and a willingness to develop one's own materials and to learn new ways, are very important. Other qualities needed are a good sense of humor and organization, flexibility, self-motivation, and confidence. A PS1 teacher needs to be a team player who exhibits a sense of stewardship in the work setting.

QUALIFICATIONS AND SALARY

Prior experience in teaching elementary school is essential. A California or other state teaching credential is preferred but is not required. Experience in non-graded schooling will be given preference. Excellent stamina, creativity, honesty, a generous heart, and a willingness to seek continuing education in the field are valued qualities. This position is competitively compensated with benefits. Salary is dependent upon personal qualifications and experience.

PS1 MISSION STATEMENT

PS1 is a diverse community of students, teachers, and parents committed to balancing tradition and innovation in a dynamic elementary school setting. We use a multi-faceted approach to help students attain strong academic and interpersonal skills to fulfill their potential as confident members of society.
